A webinar series for early career
nurses & midwives

PROFESSIONAL EDUCATION

The NSWNMA is hosting a webinar series to support nurses and midwives in their first years of professional practice. The topics presented will assist in advancing your career as a nurse or midwife.

The webinars will be held every second month from April and there will be plenty of opportunities for you to ask questions to the presenters.

PROFESSIONAL OBLIGATIONS

Wednesday 13 April 2022 at 1430

As registered nurses or midwives, you must adhere to the standards, codes, guidelines and frameworks set by the Nursing and Midwifery Board of Australia (NMBA).

This webinar will provide an overview of the professional obligations relating to nursing and midwifery. It will explore professional accountability and responsibility, delegation and supervision, and scope of practice.

CLINICAL COMMUNICATION & DOCUMENTATION

Wednesday 8 June 2022 at 1430

The exchange of information needs to be clearly understood by all parties involved. Shared intelligence ensures quality care and patient safety.

This webinar explores the importance of the legal and ethical frameworks around communication and documentation, and how they govern nursing and midwifery practice. It will help you develop the knowledge and resources to understand and communicate professionally, and comprehensively.

Can't attend on these days?

That's okay, still register and you can access the recording via Member Central. All nurses and midwives who have recently commenced employment are encouraged to attend, even if you're not yet an NSWNMA member. Feel free to invite your colleagues.

CRITICAL THINKING, PROBLEM SOLVING & SITUATIONAL AWARENESS

Wednesday 10 August 2022 at 1430

During the process of critical thinking, ideas should be reasoned, well thought out and judged.

This webinar will guide you to become an effective critical thinker within the practice setting (using the decision-making framework). It will also help you develop an understanding of how critical thinking and situational awareness are interlinked.

APPROPRIATE WORKPLACE BEHAVIOUR & ASSERTIVE COMMUNICATION TECHNIQUES

Wednesday 12 October 2022 at 1430

Assertive communication is based on mutual respect, targeting problems rather than people.

This webinar will provide you with a clear understanding of how to be assertive in your communication. You will learn how to use these techniques in your practice, to ensure safe patient care.

SELF-REFLECTION & FEEDBACK

Wednesday 14 December 2022 at 1430

Self-reflection is an important part of how we develop professionally as nurses and midwives. By implementing self-reflection – and constructive and supportive feedback – you can grow as a practitioner.

This webinar will guide you through the processes of self-reflection, and help you combine this with constructive feedback to overcome learning gaps and build on your successes.
